12th Sunday in Ordinary Time

20th June 2010

Fathers' Day.

I have often witnessed the loving gaze which a Father can have on his child - a gaze where nothing is said in words but where the look says it all - pure love and admiration. The Child does not have to prove anything concerning his/her worth. He feels accepted, respected, appreciated and valued....

Now isn't this love similar to that of Jesus? ' Let the Children come to me. Do not stop them.' Jesus called his Father Abba - Daddy, and it was from the Father that Jesus got his wisdom and love. 'He who has seen me has seen the Father'.

A Mother's love is more of a stillness where a Father's love is more active. Mothers and Fathers need to discover their own true natures and in doing so will be more aware of their roles in life, in the home and in society.

In a broader sense, we - God's Children, the Father's Children may see the Father as an authority figure and Mother as more of the heart - Father being rather like a guardian angel.

We need to help restore love on our planet - each of us and maybe just for today - Father's Day - reflect on what it means to be Fatherly.

Have I got that profound loving gaze on my Child?

Abba - Father.
